1926 CAMPAIGN OPENED BY WERT

Attorney Served With A. E. F. And Was Cited For Bravery

Judge Thomas W. Wert one of Alabama's best known attorneys today formally announced his candidacy for attorney general of Alabama, filing notice of his candidacy with the secretary of state at Montgomery according to the following Associated Press report to The Daily.

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 7.—The boom of the first gun in the political campaign of 1926 was sounded here today with the formal filing with the secretary of state of the candidacy of Thomas W. Wert, of Decatur for the office of Attorney General, in the democratic primary to be held the second Tuesday in August, 1926.

Mr. Wert who is a well known attorney of North Alabama, is the first candidate to formally qualify for office in the coming campaign, according to Sidney H. Blan, secretary of state.

Judge Wert, for many years was presiding judge of the Morgan County law and equity court. His term was during the early days of prohibition and his court became as a thorn in the side of prohibition law violators. A large number of "soft drink" stands were closed through the orders of the law and equity court.

As a result of his efforts for law enforcement, Judge Wert became known throughout the state.

When the United States entered the war with Germany, Judge Wert offered his services to his country and served gallantly in France as an officer in the American army, being cited for bravery by the government.

On the return of peace he came back here and resumed the practice of law, with Hon. Melvin Hutson, under the firm name of Wert and Hutson, which firm has grown to be one of the best known in the Tennessee Valley.

Judge Wert has been an active member of the American Legion and has served as commander and vice commander of the Morgan County Post of the Legion. His friends here and throughout the state predict that he will receive a flattering vote.

School Board Is Before Councilors

The school board went before the council of the city of Albany last night for the discussion of the present difficulties that are facing the schools of Albany. At this time it seems that if the council is unable to appropriate funds for the schools so that the system will be forced to close at the end of a seven and one half month term.

The Albany city council called a special session for Tuesday night, March 10th when the possibility of appropriating the needed funds will be taken up.

The school system is in need of finances this year mainly through the increase in the number of school children over the county. The six year old children have been placed in school this year and the appropriations have been cut down on the city school and more thrown the way of the rural school.

Professor Ralph W. Cowart, B. L. Malone, F. F. Tidwell and John Patterson represented the school board at last night's session.

BORGLUM TO FIGHT RETURN FOR TRIAL

Attorneys Advise Him Against Willingness To Go To Georgia

(Associated Press)

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 7.—Gutzon Borglum, deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial today declared he was willing to return to Georgia to face felony charges against him but that his counsel had advised him to fight extradition proceedings.

The sculptor arrived here this morning to confer with his attorneys, previous to appearing before Judge Michael Schenck, of superior court, tonight in connection with habeas corpus proceedings which he instituted here last Saturday night after being arrested on a Georgia fugitive warrant.

Charges of malicious mischief were made against Borglum by the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Memorial Association after the sculptor was alleged to have destroyed several models used in carving the memorial.

The fugitive warrant on which he was arrested here was based on these allegations.

ATLANTA, March 7.—In response to a suggestion by Governor Clifford Walker, the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Association at a special meeting held today decided to withdraw the Association's application for extradition of Gutzon Borglum from the state of North Carolina to stand trial in DeKalb county for destroying the models of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial.

The executive committee passed a resolution acquiescing in Governor Walker's suggestion, but giving notice that the withdrawal of the application for extradition does not, in any way, mean that there is the remotest possibility of Borglum ever resuming work on this memorial and further declaring that "any resumption of relations with Borglum would be fatal to the building of this monument and the committee breathes a sigh of relief that it is now happily rid of him."

Record Of Cataco County Are Seen

BLOODHOUNDS TRAIL TO DEPOT

Jewels Were Missed Friday Afternoon By Local Woman

Ernest Price, local jeweler, this afternoon stated that jewels, valued at $1000 which had been reported to officers as missing from the Price home on Grant street sometime Friday, had been recovered.

Mr. Price stated that no arrests have been made in the case.

The jewels were missed by Mrs. Price about 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when she searched for the gems, preparatory to going downtown.

Bloodhounds were placed on a trial last night, leading to the union station.

Mrs. Price, yesterday morning, was using the telephone in her home. While at the phone she heard someone knock at the front door. From where she was sitting she could see a part of the visitor, and said she seemed to have a premonition not to answer the knock. She could not tell definitely whether the caller was a white man or a negro, but believes that he was a white man.

She continued her conversation and the caller left the door. After the robbery was discovered tracks were found leading to the rear of the house.

Mr. Price stated today that the jewels included an engraved wedding ring, a diamond dinner ring with four sapphires two diamond solitaires set in white gold, a diamond brooch with 72 pearls and eight diamonds on it and a pearl necklace.

Simons Picked As Temporary Chief

(Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 7.—The majority parties in the reichstag have agreed to frame a measure appointing Dr. Wallace Simons president ad interim of the German republic. Dr. Simons is a former foreign minister, and now president of the supreme court at Leipzig.

It is understood that the decision to make Dr. Simons the temporary president, until a successor to the late President Ebert is selected, was primarily with the idea of leaving Dr. Hans Luther free to carry on his important work as chancellor unhampered by the duties of the presidential office.

TROY, Ala., March 7.—The list of victims of what is believed to be a crazy negro, roaming at large in Pike and Montgomery Counties was increased to three with the finding this morning of the body of Rose Brown, negro, woman, about half a mile from Shellhorn. The head of the woman had been severely mutilated and the neck broken.

TROY, Ala., March 7.—A posse of more than 200 whites and blacks is scouring the hills of Montgomery and Pike counties today in search of what is believed to be a crazy negro, who has strangled two victims to death within the week.

Thus far the two victims have been negro women and in each case a rope with a slip knot, has been found tightly drawn about the neck of the victim.

A reward of $150 has been offered by Governor Brandon for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of the two women and officials believe he will be taken into custody within the next 24 hours.

His first victim, Magnolia Jones, of Ramer was slain Monday night and the body thrown into a ditch and covered with straw and leaves. While officers were investigating the case, the second murder occurred Thursday, near Orion, in Pike county. This time Mattie Lee Williams, a 15-year-old negro girl was the victim.

The body of the young girl was found tied to a tree.

COMMISSION PLAN FOR SHOALS GIVEN FAVORABLE STUDY

President Coolidge now Much Impressed By The Idea

FRIENDS BELIEVE THAT HE WILL ACT

Senator Underwood At The White House To See President

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—President Coolidge is considering favorably the proposal to name a commission to investigate the Muscle Shoals Alabama property, with a view to recommending means for its disposal to congress next session.

Following the failure of congress to enact the Underwood Muscle Shoals leasing bill this session, the house adopted a resolution requesting Mr. Coolidge to appoint a commission.

Those close to the chief executive believe he will name a commission.

Senator Underwood, democrat of Alabama, called on Mr. Coolidge today and discussed the Muscle Shoals situation. He favors also the appointment of a commission. The bill of Senator Underwood, which would have authorized the President to lease the property, failed to become law although the senate approved it.

Differences between the senate and house, however, were not ironed out in time to permit final action. President Coolidge endorsed this bill and administration senators generally supported it.

ELECTION 'CALL' IS PASSED BY COUNCIL PERMITTING A VOTE

Unanimous Adaption of Measure Recorded At Regular Meet

PROMPT ACTION IS COMMENDED

Citizens Will Ballot Early As Possible On Bond Issue

Unanimous passage of the ordinance providing for the City of Albany to call an election for April 7 that the people be allowed to vote on the proposed bridge bond issue of $50,000 was the verdict of the Albany City council, meeting last night at the city hall.

Although all the councilors were not present those who were in attendance constituted a working quorum and the ordinance was passed in its entirety. A similar action was taken by the Decatur city council at the regular council meeting held on Thursday evening.

Publication is being made today of the ordinance that was adopted without dissenting vote by the Albany city council and the people are urged to read the provisions that they might be ready to cast their ballot on the date that the election is called, April 7th.

Thursday and Friday night action upon the proposed bond issue brings about a bright outlook with the probability that if the people see fit to cast their ballots in favor of the issuance of such bonds that the efforts of over 25 years to bridge the Tennessee River will have at last borne fruit.

It is the opinion of interested bridge workers that the passage of the issues will mean that the state highway commission will go to work by June first with the actual construction of the gigantic project.

Feeling is general that the councils of both cities are to be commended upon the prompt action taken regarding the calling of an election. Realizing that immediate action was necessary, the city officials of both cities did not hesitate to pass what they believe is a plan for the erection and completion of one of the most vital projects that has been brought into the history of the growth of these cities and the neighboring counties.

A DAILY PRAYER.—We pray Thee to save us from the sin and shame of despising the image of Thee Thou art seeking to create within us.

We can't understand why so much fuss was raised out publicity for income tax returns. The returns probably shed very little truth on one's income anyway.

Let us all curtail our castle construction program in Spain, and lend a good deal of practical attention to building a bridge at Albany-Decatur.

Bootleggers use various dodges to attempt to beat the law, but the marbles are won by the fellow who contended in court that he was only a "medium through which the spirits work."

General Mitchell's demotion in grade, because he expressed his opinion about the nation's air service, certainly isn't a boost for the army and navy schools at West Point and Annapolis. The average American youth prefers to express his opinions at anytime and about any subject.

CITIZENS OF ALBANY AND DECATUR WILL VOTE ON BRIDGE BOND ISSUE

The Daily repeatedly has stated since the beginning of the present movement to erect a bridge across the Tennessee river here, that the bridge would be built if the people of our cities want it with that degree of intensity which causes them to be willing to make sacrifices to attain the object of their desires.

The city councils of Albany and Decatur now have given the general public an opportunity to decide once and for all, the bridge question. If the people approve the bond issue elections which have been called for April 7,
the bridge will be built.

It is no more natural for the people of the Twin Cities to feel, deep down in their hearts, that it is not altogether their place to subscribe the funds necessary to insure the aid of the state. People here feel that the counties of Morgan and Limestone should have given to the project, as well as possibly Cullman and other counties along the route of the Bee Line highway.

The first plan to obtain these subscriptions, however, has not worked out as we had hoped. The issue has come back directly to the doors of Albany and Decatur for settlement.

If we want the bridge, we must make sacrifices to get
it. We must take a broad view of our civic responsibilities. After all there is a very good chance that the state will shoulder the entire burden and refund to the cities the amount they subscribe, when additional funds are made available for bridge building out of the proceeds of future state bond issues.

It the money is refunded, well and good. Our cities will have spent only a few thousand dollars in interest.
Even if the money is never returned to the cities, can we imagine any bond issue we could vote which would bring us greater material benefits, at such a low outlay, as the $50,000 each municipality is requested to subscribe to the bridge?

THE LUNCHEON CLUBS TARGET FOR ATTACK
BY THE "YOUNGER INTELLECTUALS"

The Cincinnati Times-Star announces the discovery that the "younger intellectuals" are deriving much amuse-

"bourgeois" and men whose viewpoint is hedged about by "Main Street" ideas.

The Times Star says:

It is too bad to record, but the fact is that in certain quarters there is a rising tide of antagonism to the luncheon clubs in which American business men meet once a week to discuss over a rather simple meal
matters of interest to them and their communities.
Rotarians, Kiwanians and similar groups writhe under the lash of the "younger intellectuals;" or they would writhe if they were not so stupid as never to consult the literary vehicles through which the intellectuals speak. In smart magazines, in periodicals dedicated to one or another of a number of isms, derision is heaped on these clubs. Their members are "saps," "bourgeoisie," fatuous occupants of Main Street.

Why are the younger intellectuals so scornful?
Only on the surface is the matter puzzling. Sit in at one of these luncheons and you have the answer. The men you meet there are successful men with a bent of practical and perhaps a little set in their ways.
No wild women dance on the table, no synthetic gin is served. If there is a piano in the room and the custom of choral singing, the songs in which the members join are likely to be standard things, with little jazz stuff and almost no "blues." They tell no of-color stories. They do not read Ben Hecht, or James Joyce, or Meichen and Nathan. Nor do they murder sleep with their meals, for these are midday affairs.
When they decide to do something it is almost hopelessly sensible and unimaginative. It may be a Chris-mas tree at an orphan's asylum, or an automobile excursion for crippled children, or substantial encouragement to the Boy Scouts or a prize for superior industry at a school or college.

Any bunch of men who make a success in their own calling, who take a primitive satisfaction in their fellows, who usually put over what they undertake to do in common, and who sing songs with recognizable tunes reserve all the contempt that the younger intellectuals heap upon them. Kiwanis, for example, is, as we understand, from an Indian word meaning
"we build." To the minds of people who believe in tearing down, what right has anybody to build?

The nation, of course is indebted to the Times Star for take cognizance of the attempts of the "intellectuals" to warn us of the danger of the luncheon clubs and giving to these attempts a fair amount of publicity, something the movement apparently has been almost entirely bereft of before. Had not this information been broadcasted, the luncheon clubs might have been hugged right to our collective breast, continuing to exist, continuing to inculcate "Main Street" ideas in our younger generations and continuing to set the stupid example in the future as they have in the past. Now that the public is informed how utterly lacking in imagination these luncheon clubs are, how poisonous they are to proper development of jazz intellect the public is expected to take heed of the "intellectuals" warning and stay far from them.

If the movement is not arrested, the example of the luncheon clubs might help to promote a better feeling of fellowship between individuals and communities, the clubs might inculcate in those with whom the organizations come into contact, a love for their fellowman, they might even go so far as to cause people to give more attention to the worship of God.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS
for the Sabbath and Other Days

BY J. E. BLAIR

Those who have failed in the business of life-making have run out of incentives or motives. They have failed to drive forward because they were "lost" as to where they were going. Their inner conscience kept saying to them—"What's the use?" It follows, therefore, that successful people must have a large supply of good incentives. Speaking of incentives for our earthly lives—they are important. They are as valuable in their place as our mature or "heavenly aspirations." A child's incentives are play, good things to eat and love for relatives. Children's feet may go "creeping to school;" but they "go storming out to play." Children will look forward to Thanksgiving dinner at grandfathers for a year, and be happy in the thought. But consider the following—Whether we like it or not, the time comes when "we put away childish things."

And for adults, the good things of life must be supplied by their own efforts. On his own initiative a man must provide what makes life happy. He is the builder of his own fortune. Suppose a man gains a competency, has established splendid human love relationships and has good health—can he then say "Soul delight thyself in fatness?" The Savior says "No." He declared that the man in the parable, who pulled down his old barns, built new ones, filled them and told his soul "Delight thyself in fatness for thou hast much goods laid up for many years," was a fool. But was Christ right about it? Unless it is plain Christ is the Son of God, He might be wrong. So in the last analysis, unless Christ is the Son of God, it may be all wrong for us to have those "heavenly aspirations, just mentioned." Well, Christ said, when only 12 years of age, that he must "be about my Father's business."

He showed Satan during the temptation in the wilderness, that He is divine. At the time of His first miracle, Christ proclaimed His deity. He did sleep as a man, on a certain storm tossed barque; but as God that sleeping man old the waves to go to sleep and they obeyed! As a strong man of backbone, the Savior drove crooks out of the temple; but about the same time He said He would arise from the dead. Our Savior suffered on the cross;
but as very God He told the penitent thief beside Him—
"This day shalt thou be with Me in paradise." As stern, shrewd Thomas Carille has said: "The Savior ought not to have talked to the thief like that unless He were the Son of God." During His mock trial Christ declare unequivocally that He was the Son of God. So it appears He is the Son of God, or else the person who was tempted in all things "yet without sin," was an imposter. Finally, heaven itself, must furnish the motive, the incentive for adults. Those who are "lost" along life's way, who have no hope of heaven, are sure to say "what's the use" sooner or later and generally sooner! Paul, himself, said in effect "what's the use" when he declared that unless Christ does prepare a place for us and come again and receive us unto Himself we are of all men most miserable." Let us say, then, that we earthly children, must have the motive of play, the human love instinct and all the incentives that go to make earthly life—but also our "heavenly motives" must remain—yea they must rule us

WHY GO TO CHURCH?

Goodness is the result of cooperation between God and His creatures. Cooperation can best be attained through church-going. Church-going is not only the duty of every man, woman and child who profess Christian faith, but a pleasure that comes but once through the week.
An opportunity to go further in the path of righteousness with the aid of a Divine guidance.
Without this divine guidance the world would be worthless. Cultivate the habit of church-going. The doors are thrown wide to you. respond to Him who died that the world might be saved.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl nineteen years old, and I love a man whom I have been going with. We were corresponding. I always thought he loved me, but he did not answer my last letter. I cannot account for it. Please tell me what I can do?

SADIE J.

SADIE J.: Perhaps your friend is in or away from home and was therefore unable to answer your last letter. You might send him one more note and await results.

But even if he should not answer, dear, don't take it too hard for that is what usually happens to correspondence friendships. It is only natural that people who do not see each other often get out of touch with each other.

Why not make friends with the young people about you, my dear?

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

COST VS. RESULTS

The COST of advertising in the CLASSIFIED COLUMNS is very small indeed, compared with the RESULTS that are obtained. ## SPORTS

Ultimatum Is Issued To Champion By Boxing Commission. Must Fight Soon

An ultimatum in the form of a demand for action from the boxing commission has been issued to champion Jack Dempsey to either cast his lot to fight Harry Wills, the negro pugilist, or possibly vacate the title. There is a provision in the rules of fistiana that a champion must don the padded mits once every six months or declare his throne vacant and Jack Dempsey has not engaged in a brawl since 1923.

This action comes after many years of waiting. There is little chance that the champion can get out of a fight with the negro as Wills claim was put in before that of Tommy Gibbons. Dempsey must return the report card within 24 hours.

There is only one chance that the champion may get away from a fight with the black and that is that the unwritten law be put into use.

At all hazards there will be a fight within the next six months and whoever the contender turns out to be the heavyweight championship of the world will be at stake.

Plenty of noise is coming from the Major league camps but not one sound is issuing from the Southern camps. Practically nothing is known of the comparative strength of the southern association this year. There is one light that is thrown on the subject and that is that Johnnie Dobbs is managing the Barons this year. That means that the Barons will be somewhere up near the top. Through all "The automobile exhibitions so far held this year, both national and sectional, clearly indicate that the pyroxylin finish is still in an early stage of development, and that for the present at least, there is no outstanding type promising a permanently fixed standard."—March Motor Vehicle Monthly.
